

Abstract of invention

This invention generally relates to uniform user interface, and more particularly to method and system that provides an integrated common interface for all types of media and utilities that provides focused topical information, with related field of interests, and memory storage that remotely enables different available functions.